Kansai Airports today announced that new Travelex stores and ATMs will open at Kansai International Airport (KIX) in phases, with the first store being launched in the south international arrivals hall on June 1, 2019.

Travelex operates over 1,500 foreign exchange outlets and 1,200-plus ATMs at international airports and major cities across the globe. With 31 currencies available in-store, the foreign exchange retailer offers easy and speedy service, allowing customers to exchange currency using credit cards without filling in any forms. The users can even earn miles of the operator's partner airlines according to the amount they spent. Those who returned to Japan are also offered special rates when exchanging unused foreign currency back into Japanese yen.

There are currently six Travelex outlets at KIX, and four more stores and three ATMs are slated to open in 2019. The launch is expected to make foreign currency exchange at the airport more convenient. Meanwhile, Travelex plans to offer various campaigns, such as discounts for KIX-ITM Card users and students, and have multilingual staff in store to cater to an increasing number of non-Japanese travelers.

Kansai Airports is committed to delivering convenient, comfortable and pleasant travel experiences for airport guests.
